BOARD OF HEALTH PUTS BAN ON PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENTS

The City Board of Health met at noon today and passed a resolution forbidding all public entertainments of every nature during this week. This does not interfere with church services. The Board also desires that all parties understand that in cases where parties have had smallpox the houses must be thoroughly fumigated, under the directions of the Board of Health, before the occupants will be permitted to come out.

The above requirements must be strictly complied with.

R. P. HAMBY,
Mayor,

BUSINESS MEN OF PRESCOTT.

Gentlemen:

On account of the rapid growth of the Boys' Corn, Cotton and Canning Club work in this state I find that in order to encourage the boys and girls of each County, that some organization take up the work and offer inducements along all agricultural lines.

Realizing that no town would refuse to permit factories coming in their midst, or in fact anything that would build up the town in any way, it occurred to me, that this being an agricultural country, that the average business man has not yet realized the importance of assisting in the promotion of the agricultural interests of the county.

No town should be without a corn club or Business Men's League, or some institution that has the interest of the town and community at heart and is always ready to help their town and community when opportunity affords itself. To assist the farmers and the farmer boys and girls in every way possible to make the country better.

The time has come when we will have to look after the farmers interests more than ever, and Mr. Bryan said, that the towns could burn up and would build again, but let the farmers fail and the grass would grow in the streets of any town.

A few years ago, Prescott could have gotten along very nicely without a Commercial Club of some kind, but the time has come that your little city demands such an organization that will continually lay plans and look out for the best interests of your town. Such organizations are helping the Government Demonstration work materially.

It is impossible to help the farmers near your town without helping your town. Such an organization would mean a great deal just at this time.

I would be glad to meet with the business men at any time they see fit for such an organization.

Yours very truly,
C. W. Watson,
State Agent.

NEXT GOVERNOR TO BE CHOSEN JULY 23

Little Rock, March 25—The next Governor of Arkansas will be chosen July 23, a proclamation to that effect being issued by Acting Governor J. Marion Futrell late Monday afternoon after he had consulted a number of state officials regarding the best time for the election to be held.

"I have given the matter much study," stated Acting Governor Futrell, "in order to have the election placed so the farmers may get their crops laid by in time to vote, and at the same time do justice to all persons who may wish to lay their claims before the voters. The time, I think, is sufficient for the men who desire to make the race for Governor to get before the people, and on the other hand, to give the people a chance to look up the candidates and satisfy themselves which is the best."

The Democratic State Central Committee must now hold a meeting and set the date for the primary, which must be held in time to give the candidates 20 days in which to place their names on the ticket for the general election. This will permit the holding of the primary during the last week in March, and as the ticket will be short it will not take long to count the ballots, and the returns can thus be made early. If the primary is held on Saturday, the farmers will have a chance to vote even if they do not get their crops laid by at that time, for few of them do any work on Saturday afternoon.

No candidates have as yet made their announcements, but it is expected that Stephen S. Brundage of Searcy, X. O. Pendall of Little Rock, and Judge George W. Hays of Camden, will certainly be in the race, with Associate Justice W. F. Kirby a possibility.

URGED TO HOLD ON.

Little Rock, March 25—Just before he left the office of Governor, Acting Governor Oldham received a letter from Dr. C. C. Abbott of Pettus, a fellow townsman of the retiring Acting Governor, urging him to hold on to the office and not call a special election on account of the great cost to the people of the state. He stated it would cost each voter $1 on time, which would be $574,449, and the $20,000 the state would have to pay for the expenses of the election, would make the total $624,449, which is entirely too much to spend for a change in administrations. Where the figures were procured none familiar with politics can state, for there never has been an election held in the history of the state when one third this number of votes has been cast.

OLDHAM ISSUES PARDON.

Little Rock, March 25—Acting Governor Oldham, before leaving the office of Governor, reduced the sentence of James Harris, a Jefferson county murderer, who was in 1905 given 42 years in the penitentiary, to 21 years. His last official action was to grant a pardon to Clay Gibson, convicted in Greene county of murder in the second degree, and who has already served 16 years. This pardon was issued only a few minutes before the Supreme Court declared J. M. Futrell to be the legal holder of the office of Governor, and as it was for a Greene County convict, and Acting Governor Futrell is from Greene county, is considered a bit of a slight to the new Acting Governor. As Oldham was not the legal governor at the time the pardon was issued, it can be set aside by Acting Governor Futrell should he find, after an investigation, Gibson not entitled to a pardon.

Transcript Filed In Supreme Court.

Little Rock, March 25—The transcript in the appeal of Will Dempsey vs State, from the Lonoke circuit court, has been filed in the Supreme Court. Dempsey was fined $400 and given a jail sentence of five months, in the last term of the Lonoke court for wife and child abandonment. It was alleged in the trial that Dempsey was enamoured with a former resident of Lonoke, and had followed her to Little Rock, where she now resides.

Why We Welcome The Small Account

Banks quite frequently accept deposits and handle accounts which, because of their small, account, represent a distinct loss in clerical time and labor.

Nevertheless, this bank has long since adopted the plan of inviting the small depositor to transact his business with us in the hope that the assistance this bank can render his business will in time develop his account into a large and profitable one.

There are other other reasons, too. A large volume of small business furnishes ideal conditions for safe banking because the greater number of people this bank can serve, the greater its usefulness to the community.

And small deposits make it possible for us to make small loans and a large number of small loans, from a standpoint of safe banking, is preferable to a few large ones.
